

Classic Model Sales Analysis

1. Problem statement

The company wants to evaluate overall sales performance in 2004 to understand which products, countries, and cities generate the most revenue and profit. Purpose to identify profitable products and control cost of sales

2. Data Set overview

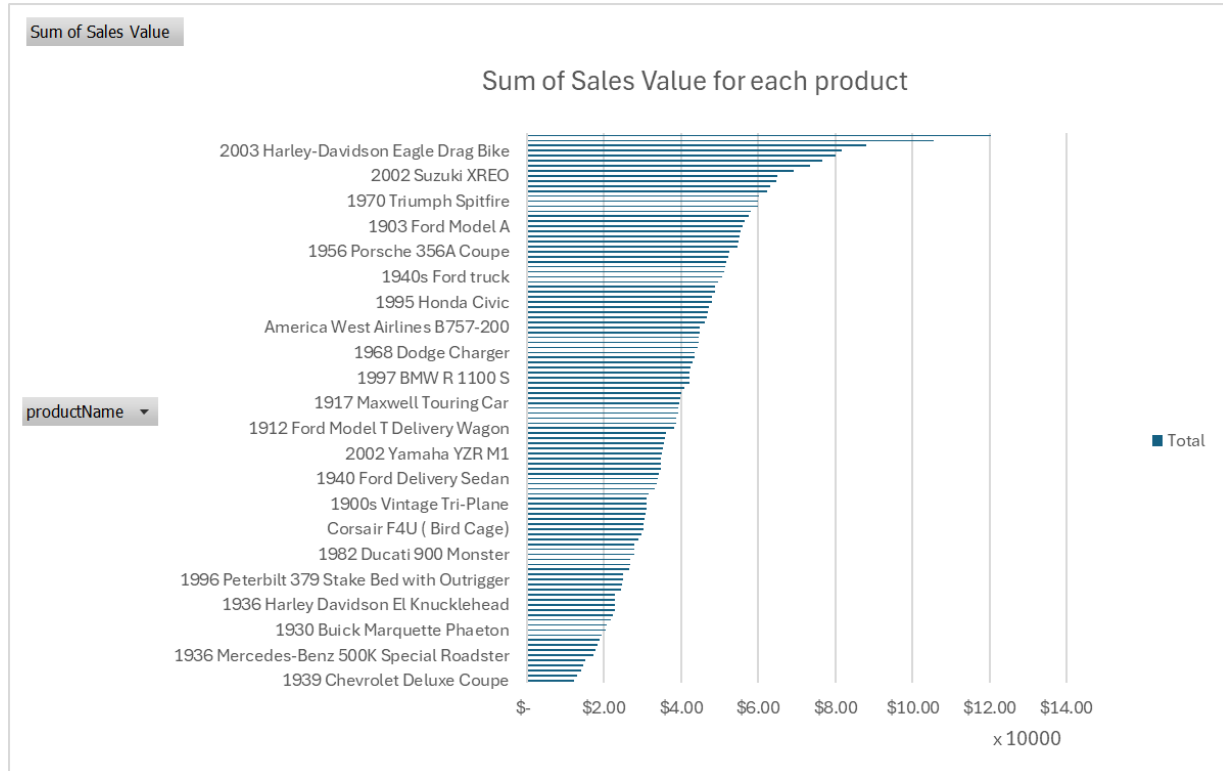

1. 8 tables

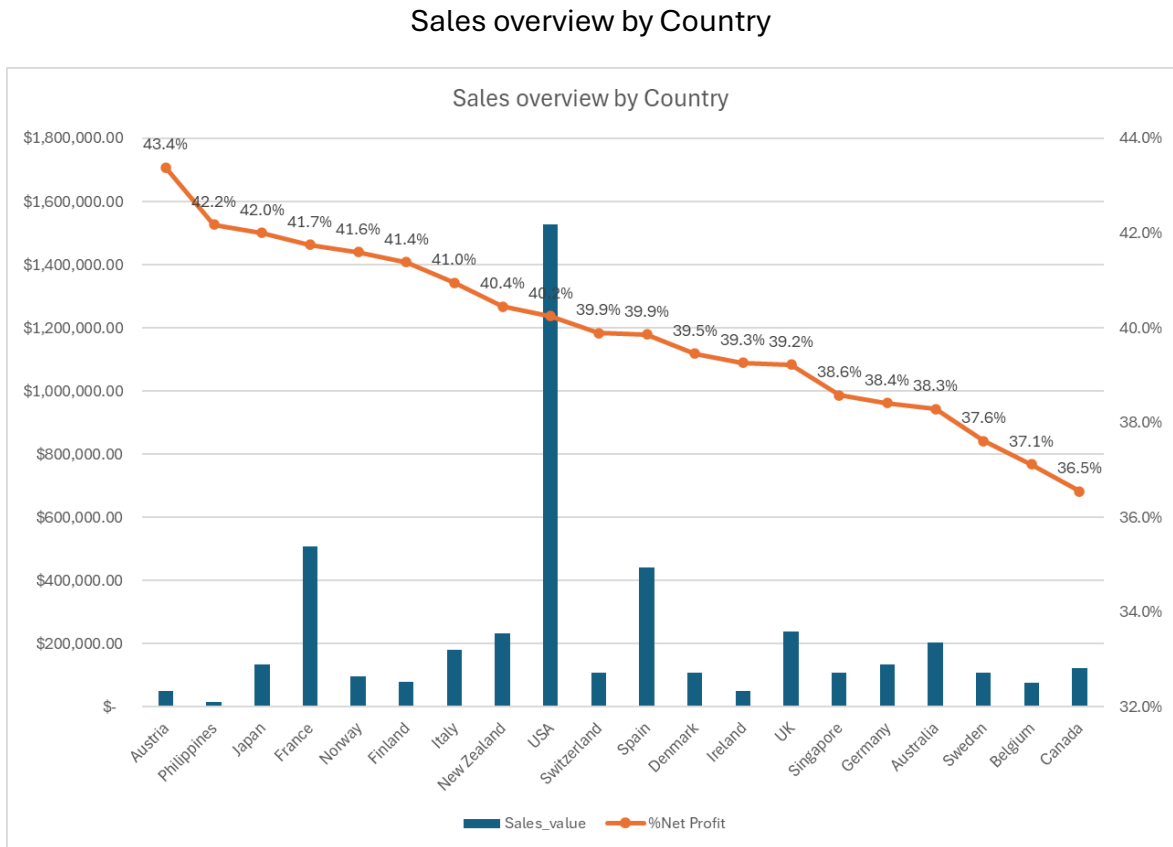

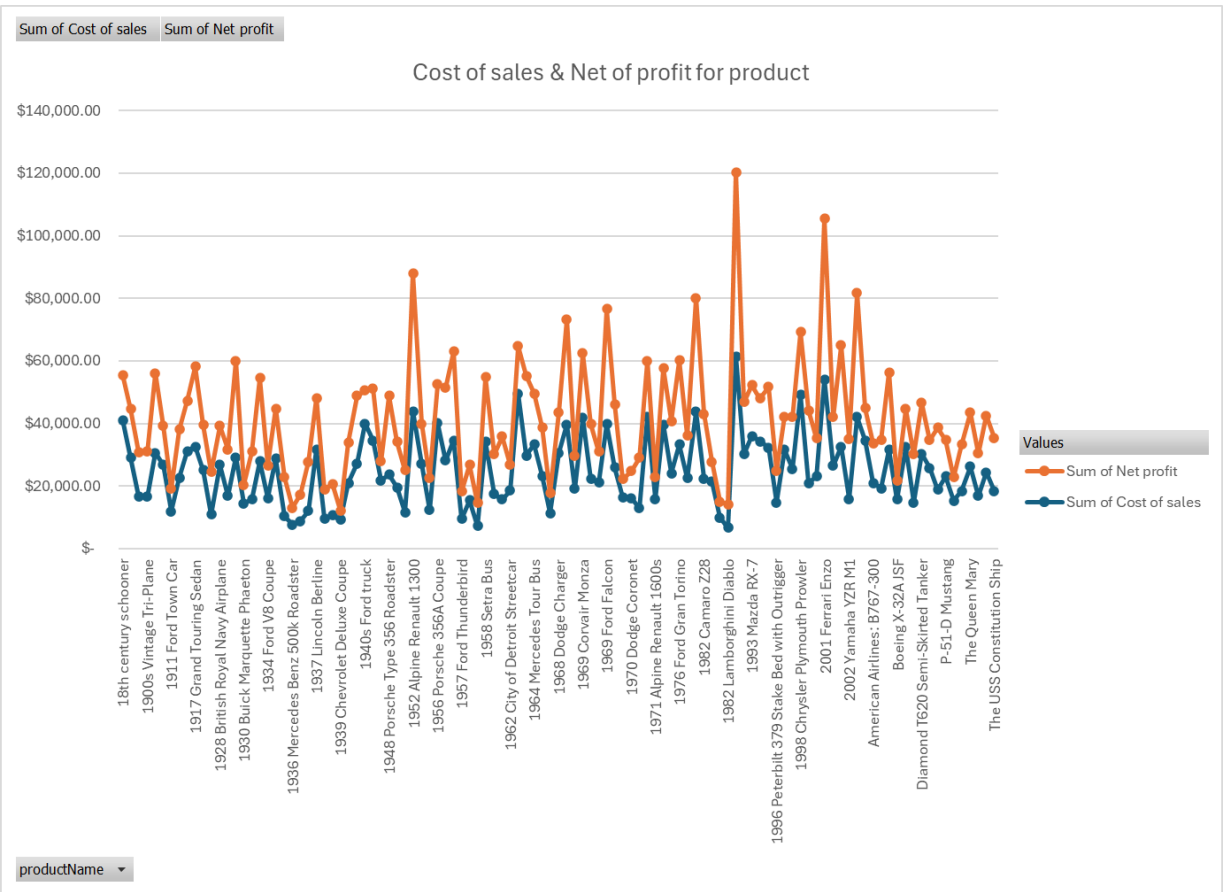

2. Key features

- Customers , row :122 , column :13
- Employess, row :23, column : 8
- Offices, row: 7, column : 9
- Orderdetails, row: 2996, column : 5
- Orders , row : 326, column : 7
- Payments, row : 273, column :4
- Productlines , row : 7, column :4
- Products , row : 110, column : 9

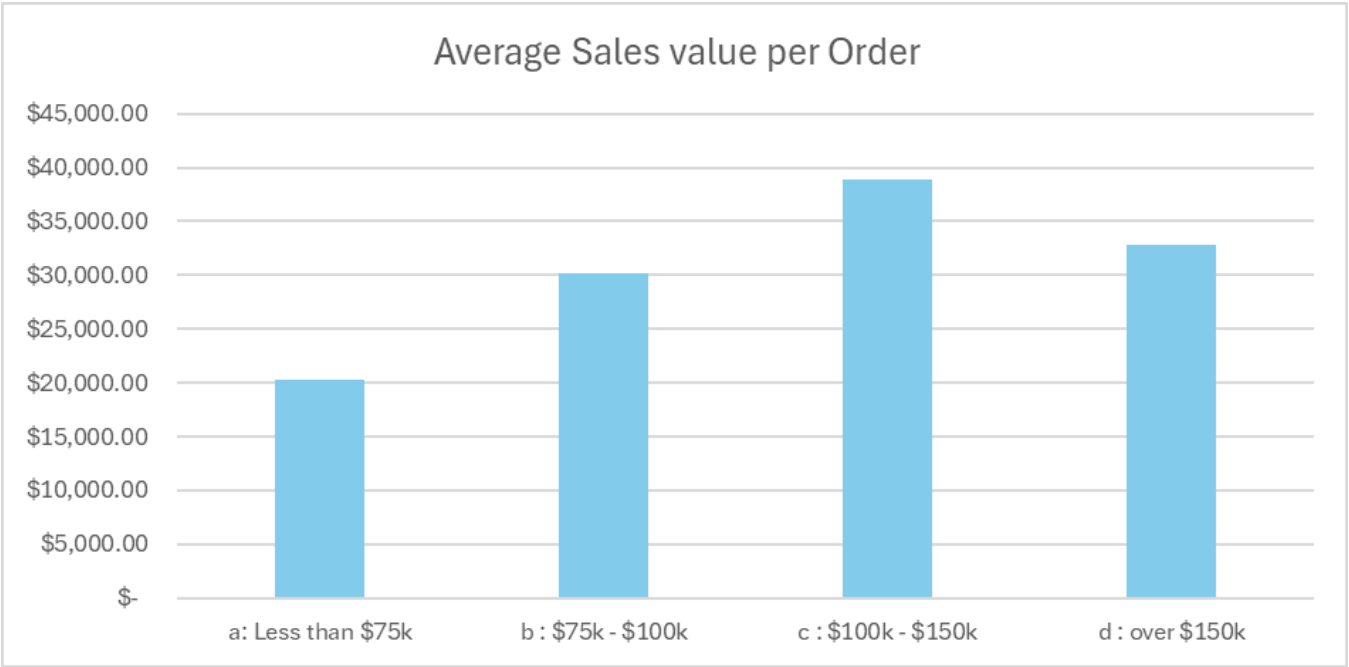

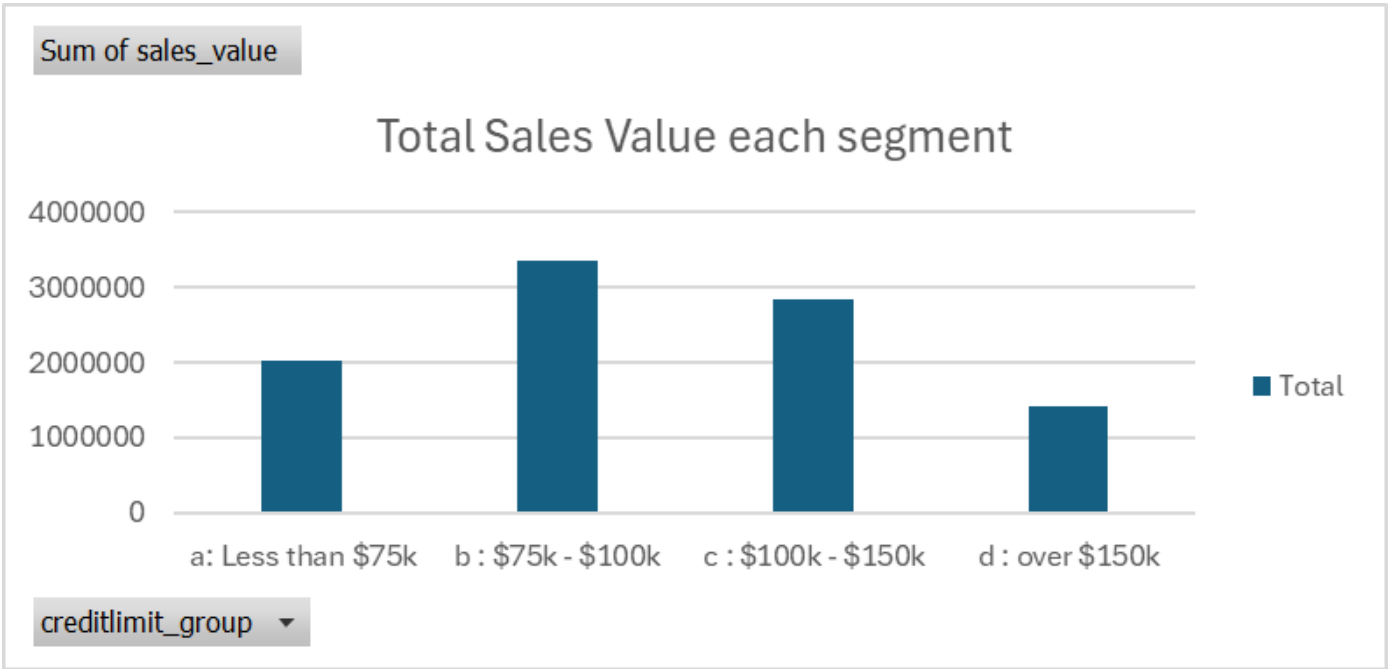

3. Data Analysis using SQL

Sales overview by product

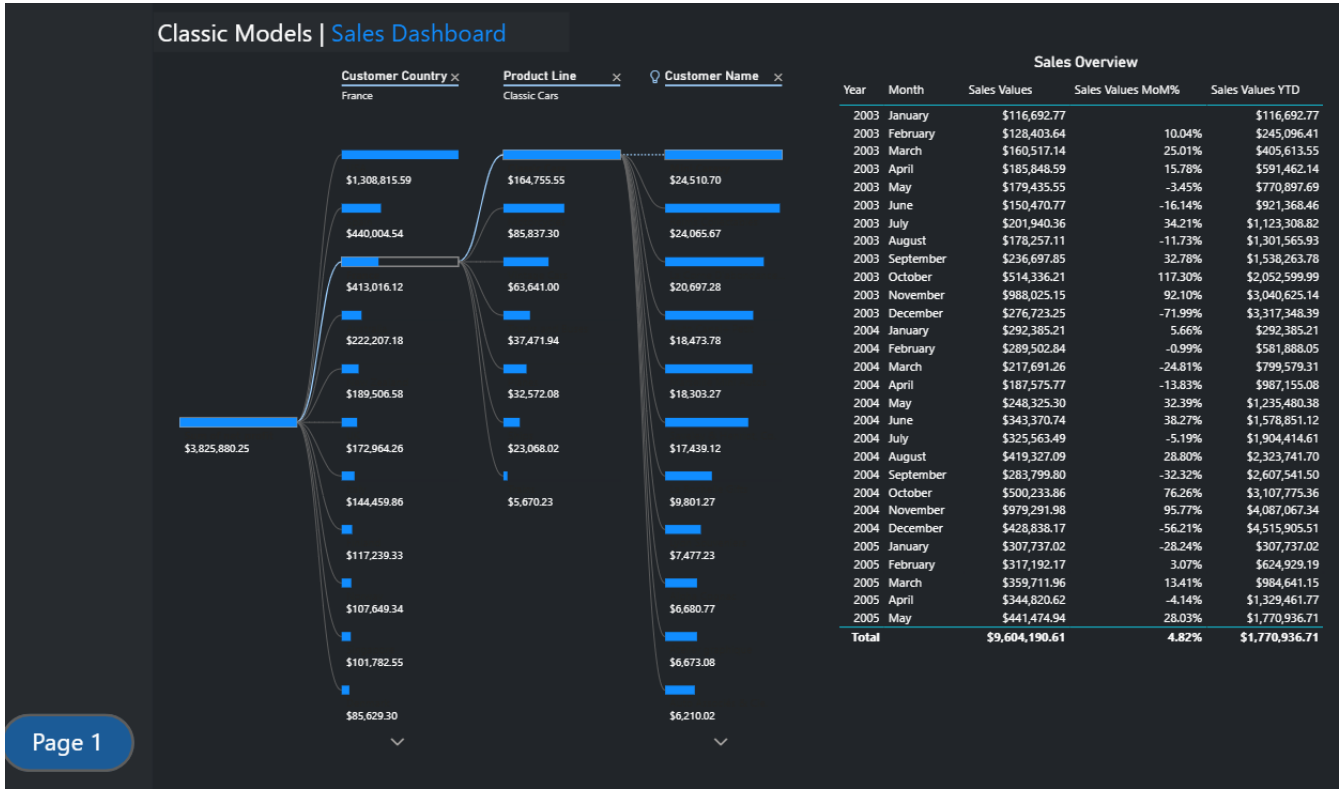

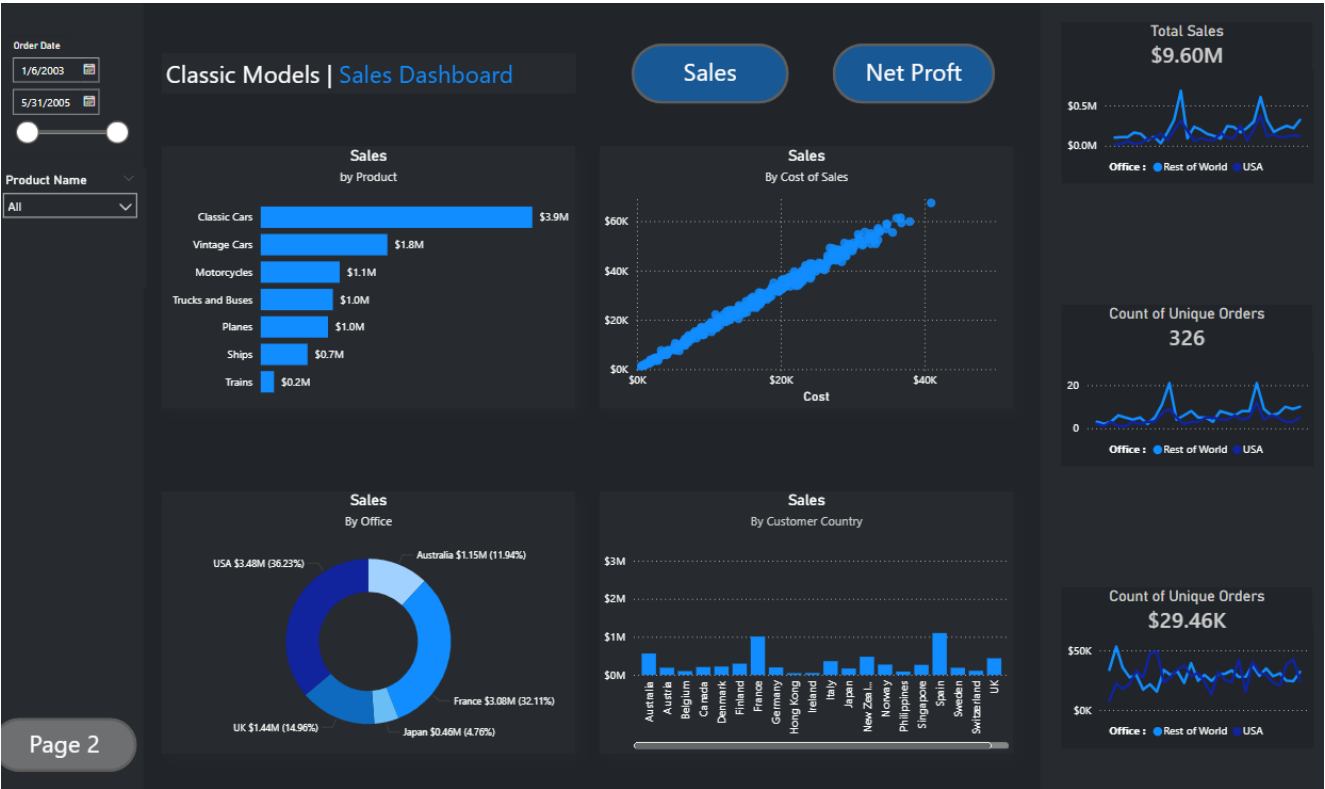

Customer sales by credit limit

Sales value change from Previous order

Row Labels ▼	Average of purchase_value_change
2	$ (2,648.36)
3	$ 879.69
4	$ (3,971.37)
5	$ (2,351.09)
6	$ 91.97
7	$ 19,944.88
8	$ (9,671.85)
9	$ (1,200.92)
10	$ 267.59
11	$ (8,768.34)
12	$ 16,453.71
13	$ (7,213.89)
14	$ (13,584.02)
15	$ 30,894.29
16	$ (24,585.17)
17	$ (700.38)
18	$ (11,896.34)
19	$ (15,667.85)
20	$ 17,782.94
21	$ 2,447.77
22	$ 10,116.54
23	$ (28,865.78)
24	$ 28,792.74
25	$ (18,320.58)
26	$ 735.40
Grand Total	-1406.761447

4. Dashboard in Power BI

5. Business recommendations

Focus marketing on high-profit countries

Reduce cost for low-profit products

Stop selling low-margin products

Expand strong cities